Estate Planning – Incapacity Planning

Life is unpredictable, and an accident or illness can leave you unable to make important decisions. Planning ahead ensures your medical preferences, asset management, and long-term care needs are addressed according to your wishes. By creating an incapacity plan now, you protect your family from the stress of court proceedings and potential financial loss.

Your plan should reflect your personal goals and the needs of your loved ones. Bassford Remele can guide you in crafting a comprehensive estate plan using tools such as:

- Trusts: Living trusts allow for seamless asset management during incapacity and ensure efficient asset transfer upon death. Trusts can also protect your wealth from being depleted by costly long-term care expenses.
- Powers of Attorney: Designating a trusted person to make decisions on your behalf, avoiding court delays and ensuring immediate action. We create durable powers of attorney for health and financial matters, ensuring that clients' wishes are respected in the event of a disability or incapacity.

Bassford Remele's experienced attorneys will help you select the right tools and ensure your plans are legally sound. Contact us today to create or update your incapacity plan, safeguarding your future and providing peace of mind.

By reviewing your estate plan regularly—especially after major life events—you can ensure it remains effective and aligned with both your goals and personal values. Let us help you protect what matters most—your family's future and financial security.
